The Children Should Be Remembered for Christmas, First of All—
BECAUSE CHRISTMAS IS THE CHILDREN'S SEASON.

The Toys and Playthings
Are Here That Will
Please Them Most

Toys that teach and instruct, Toys that amuse, Toys for babies, Toys for boys, Toys for Girls, Toys of every make and kind, Dolls of all nations, Dolls' Dress Accessories, Doll Furniture and House Furnishings, Children's Furniture, Books, Games, Tree Ornaments.

You will find in our great Toy Store on the fourth floor the largest and most complete stock of Toys that we have ever shown—and there are toys such as have never been seen before.

The space devoted to the display is larger than in any previous year, the arrangement is better and more accommodating; toys of each particular kind are grouped in their own sections.

Parents will find that the children can help them greatly in their selections, so we advise the bringing of them for choosing the things they want. A great many of these toys are limited in assortment, being new and original, and procured especially for us by our buyer while in the Toy Centers of the old world last spring.

On account of the many requests from the little folks, Santa Claus will be with us again today. He will receive and talk with all of them in his home—The Toy Store.

Hand Sewing Machines that will sew small articles satisfactorily.

SOCIETY

Hosts to Diplomats

The President occupied a box at the Theater last night and had with him the Misses Smith, of New Orleans; Miss Hall, of Baltimore, all guests at the White House; Miss Wilson, Miss Eleanor Wilson, and Dr. Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N.

The President and Mrs. Wilson were hosts at a brilliant reception at the White House yesterday afternoon, their guests being the members of the Diplomatic Corps and their families.

The President and Mrs. Wilson received their guests in the Blue Room, the presentations being made by Col. W. W. Harris, U. S. A.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Bryan assisted them in receiving, as did the Misses Wilson, Miss Helen Woodward, and the Misses Smith. Tea was served in the State Dining Room, and Miss Inez Hagan presided at the handsomely decorated table.

It was the second afternoon reception at the White House for the diplomats, the first having been given by the President and Mrs. Wilson soon after the President's inauguration, and in giving them information of the White House they are re-establishing a custom which Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt first started, and which has lasted for the past four years.

Former President Taft called at the White House yesterday morning to pay his respects to President Wilson.

Prof. Taft, who is stopping with Mr. and Mrs. William Boardman while in Washington, was entertained at dinner last night by his host before his lecture at Masonic Temple.

The President and his youngest daughter, Miss Edith, attended the "farewell" drill at Fort Myer, Va., yesterday. They watched with breathless interest the skillful and daring riding of the boys in khaki. The drill was given in the benefit of the Army Relief Society.

The threatening weather did not prevent hundreds of people from making the trip to the picturesque army post overlooking the Potomac River, and many distinguished Washingtonians were grouped about the tank in the riding hall. The Secretary of War and Mrs. Lindley M. Garrison, the Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs. Henry H. Breckinridge, the Chief of Staff and Mrs. Leonard Wood, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Henry G. Wetherston, Surgeon General George Sternberg, S. A., retired, and Mrs. George Sternberg, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. George Andrews, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Henry G. Sharpe, Col. and Mrs. Edward Burr, Col. and Mrs. Joseph Kuhn, Col. and Mrs. William Marshall, Miss Marshall, Lieut. Knapp, U. S. N.; Miss Ruth Bliss, Maj. and Mrs. William Connor, and Maj. and Mrs. William Barden.

After a delightful refreshment were served in the Administration Building, where the Cavalry Band played for the dancing, in which many of the debutantes present participated.

Miss Hall, of Baltimore, Md., arrived in Washington yesterday and are visiting the Misses Wilson at the White House.

Mrs. James Pinchot entertained at a dinner last night at her residence in Rhode Island Avenue in honor of Sir William Tyrrell, who is visiting the British Ambassador and Lady Spring-Rice.

The Secretary of War, Mr. Garrison, will go to New York today to attend the dinner which the Lotus Club is giving in his honor at the clubhouse, 130 West Fifty-sixth Street.

Another Draper Ball

Mrs. William F. Draper has sent out invitations to a fancy dress ball on Friday evening, December 12, at her residence in Farragut Square. Mrs. Draper's balls are famous, and invitations to her entertainments are always eagerly sought.

Before leaving Washington for Egypt last winter Mrs. Draper gave an "eighteenth century ball." This year the costumes to be worn by her guests will be confined to the Renaissance period. The effect will probably be very beautiful.

The Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Joseph Daniels, will be the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the North Carolina Society of New York, at the Hotel Plaza, December 17. He will be the guest of the president of the society, Rufus L. Patterson, of No. 21 West Fifty-second Street.

The Counselor of the Italian Embassy and Mme. Catalani expect to reach Washington today. They will spend the winter with the latter's mother, Mrs. Henry F. Dimock.

Society is greatly interested in the announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of the Countess Louise de Contant-Biron, eldest daughter of Mr. John G. Leishman, formerly American Ambassador to Germany, and Mr. James Hays Hyde, at one time a prominent insurance man, in New York, who has lived in Paris for some years. The wedding will take place within a few weeks.

Rawson-Smith

Trinity Methodist Church, in Atlanta, Ga., was the scene of a lovely wedding on Wednesday night when Miss Sarah Rawson and Mr. Marion Smith, son of Senator and Mrs. Hoke Smith, were married.

The bride entered the church with her brother, Mr. William Rawson, and the bridegroom with his best man, Mr. John A. Brice. Miss Lucy Hoke Smith was maid of honor. Mrs. Ronald Clarence Haverly and Mrs. Ronald Clarence Haverly were matrons of honor. Miss Cattie Hoke Smith, Miss Harriet Cathoun, Miss Pamela May Otley, Miss Mary Helen Moody, Miss Jennie D. Harris, Miss Marjorie Brown, and Miss Bessie Jones were bridesmaids.

Reverend Alton Simpson, U. S. N.; Mr. James Alexander, Mr. Walter Marshall, Mr. Jerome Moore, Mr. Lamar Hill, Mr. Daniel MacDonald, and Mr. James Rogers were groomsmen.

The ushers were Judge W. T. Newman, Col. W. L. Reed, Dr. Floyd McRae, Mr. Eugene Calloway, Mr. John S. Cohen, Mr. Reuben Arnold, Mr. Edward Hill, and Mr. Jerome Simmons, Jr.

The bride was beautiful in her gown of white satin, trimmed with pearls, and the bridegroom in a tuxedo with a white bow tie. The couple were escorted to the altar by the bride's father, Mr. John G. Leishman.

The bride's gift was a string of pearls and the bride's bouquet was of white orchids showered with lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor wore a white satin dress with tulle and lace, and the bridesmaids wore white dresses with tulle and lace.

Mrs. Rawson had on an imported costume of white satin with tulle and lace, and the bridegroom wore a tuxedo with a white bow tie.

At the house the color combination of white and green was continued in artistic decoration. Palms were massed effectively, and variegated foliage and white chrysanthemums were bunched on mantels and cabinets, except in the library, where American Beauties were used with stately effect. The chandeliers and wall lights were hung with smilax.

A buffet supper was served for the guests and the bride party had a seated supper.

The table was oval and the central decorations reached in the plate borders. An oval mirror of the new maidenhair fern (adiantum farlaneae) was bordered with a deep band of valley lilies, and cut of the center of the fern rose a tall silver vase of white chrysanthemums. At one end were silver baskets of white roses, and at the other, silver baskets of white lilies, the baskets tied with white tulle, and silver composites held bunches of mints and decorated with valley lilies. The places were marked by satin boxes of wedding cake and satin wedding bells, filled with rice, and silver candlesticks had white and crystal shades.

The bride's souvenirs for her attendants were miniatures of her charming self, the picture in gold filigree frames. Punch was served on the porch, which was inclosed in canvas and decorated with palms, bay trees and bamboo. Miss Katherine Hays Hyde, daughter of Mr. Hays Hyde, presided at the punch bowl.

Among the out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Richardson and Miss de Pena of Washington.

Mrs. Smith left last night for New York and the Bermudas, and on their return they will make their home with Mrs. Rawson, in Atlanta. Senator and Mrs. Hoke Smith were at the wedding.

Representative and Mrs. Frank Clark of Florida, who have taken an apartment at Congress Hall, will present their attractive daughter, Miss Lucile Clark, to society at a tea during New Year's week.

Mr. Harold Randolph, of Baltimore, Md., will shortly resume giving his musical talks in the drawing-rooms of prominent hostesses in Washington. His "talks" with musical interpretations last year were successful. Among those who loaned him the use of their drawing-rooms were Mrs. Loudon, wife of the former Minister of the Netherlands; Mrs. Hennen Jennings, Mrs. Calderon Carille, and Mrs. George Wickensham.

Mrs. Wilson to Attend

On Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at Raucher's, the Washington section of the women's department of the National Civic Federation will hold their usual monthly meeting.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, who is deeply interested in the work of the association, has promised to attend the meeting. Miss Maudie Wetmore will be one of the speakers, and Mrs. J. Borden Harman will be on the platform and probably will give a short address.

A cordial invitation is extended to all members interested in the work of the National Civic Federation.

Mrs. Mark Brooke entertained a number of children in a box at the matinee performance at the Belasco Theater yesterday afternoon in honor of little Miss Hattie Brooke.

Miss Katherine Jennings gave a luncheon yesterday for Miss Amylla Talbot and the members of her bridal party. Miss Jennings will be maid of honor for Miss Talbot at her marriage to Mr. Charles Wilson of November 22.

The Marquise LANZA di Brolo left Washington last night for Nashville, Tenn., where she will attend the marriage of her son, Dr. Anthony Lanza, and Miss Laura Thomas on November 18.

Mr. Colville Barclay, who is coming to America to fill the place of Mr. Alfred Mitchell Innes as counselor of the British Embassy, arrived last night in Washington.

Lord Eustace Percy, third British secretary, is expected to arrive here in company with the counselor.

Mrs. Richard Wightman and her niece, Miss Florence Howard, of New Orleans, who is her house guest, have gone to New Haven to attend the Princeton-Yale football game. They will stop in New York for a brief visit before returning to Washington.

Mrs. W. C. Story Arrives Monday.

Mrs. William Cumming Story, president general of the D. A. R., will arrive in Washington Monday for the monthly meeting of the national board of management. Mrs. Story will be at Memorial Continental Hall, Monday, November 17, from 3 to 3 p. m., to discuss matters of interest, informally with members of the society.

"THE NEW DO WELL" NEXT WEEK—"THE RIGHT OF WAY," introducing the new Broadway Street car.

Mr. Gifford Pinchot has sent out invitations to a reception in honor of the delegates to the National Conservation Congress on the evening of Tuesday, November 18, from 8:30 until 11 o'clock, at his home, 225 Rhode Island Avenue.

Mr. Pinchot will be assisted in receiving his guests by his mother, Mrs. James W. Pinchot, and his sister, Lady Allan Johnston, of England, who is making her annual visit to her family.

A delightful entertainment was given at the Dumbarton Club, Georgetown, last night for the benefit of St. John's Church. Those in charge of the dance were: Mrs. R. C. Drum-Hunt, Mrs. Wheatley, Mrs. Borden, Mrs. E. E. Whiting, Miss Margaret Oliphant, Mrs. Edward Ellis, and Mrs. McNamara.

The twenty-fifth annual meeting of the First Needlework Guild of Washington City will be held at the residence of Mrs. Robert Craig, 1822 I Street Northwest, Thursday afternoon, November 18, at 4 o'clock. The object of this guild, founded in January, 1889, by Mrs. Jane I. Mahon, is to collect and distribute to the poor of this city, irrespective of creed or color, new suitable articles of clothing. Any one desiring to join this organization, which has been justly called "the best charity in the District," can do so by sending two or more new garments to the above address as early as possible. Entering upon the twenty-fifth year of wonderfully successful service, the guild asks the hearty co-operation of all who may read this notice.

Miss Genevieve Clark, daughter of the Speaker of the House and Mrs. Clark, will entertain Miss Jessie Wilson, the bride-elect of the White House, at a buffet luncheon next Wednesday, November 19, at the Congressional Club.

Invited to meet Miss Wilson will be the unmarried daughters of Senators, Representatives, and members of the Cabinet. Other guests will be Miss Wilson's two sisters, the Misses Margaret and Eleanor, Miss Wilson's bridesmaids, and Miss Helen Woodward Bones, Miss Wilson's cousin.

The luncheon will give an opportunity to Miss Wilson to meet many of the Congressional girls she was unable to invite to the wedding.

It is understood that the Senate has definitely decided upon a silver tea service with a chrysanthemum design. It was the desire of many of the Senators to present a silver service, but through a misapprehension about the joint bill many Senators had already selected individual gifts, and therefore the fund from the Senate is not quite enough to permit of the gift of a full silver service.

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and the Associate Justices went shopping yesterday for a wedding present for Miss Wilson. They selected a handsome silver centerpiece, which will be sent to the White House as a present from the Supreme Court. This centerpiece is in the shape of a narrow boat, standing on a glass and silver tray, and has four tiny vases in the bow.

Many members of the Diplomatic Corps are still "marking time" until they hear from their countries about gifts. Many of those in legation circles who decided to forego have reconsidered because of the fact that other Ministers have sent gifts. So far there have been no gifts from the rulers of foreign countries.

The French Ambassador and Mme. Jumerand, it was learned yesterday, sent a flower vase of silver.

A local milliner is making many of the hats to be in the trousseau of Miss Jessie Wilson. Most of them are in dark colors and of modish round shapes. One of them, which will probably be her "best" hat, is made of soft black chiffon velvet, with the crown and the upper part of the brim of silver cloth. Two short black plumes stand out from the back of the crown. Another hat is made entirely of black tulle and lace, and is the only one of the picture variety.

LETTER CARRIERS GET HOLIDAY

No Mail Deliveries Will Be Made Thanksgiving Day.

Washington letter carriers are assured of a full holiday on Thanksgiving. Orders were issued yesterday that because of the segment in favor of the holiday, there will be no deliveries.

Postmaster Merritt sometimes ago said that the carriers would be granted a holiday if there were no objection by citizens. Instead of objection there were hundreds of letters approving the plan of Mr. Merritt.
